The only withdrawal option for Americans is Bank wire non of the other options work. A lot of or maybe even most of the customer service people think that skroll will work. That's not the case. If selected youi get an option not available message. Bank wire is slow prone to error and expensive so please consider adding another option(s), Paypal is a popular option with many other brokers, Neteller is used by some. And if you really want to get ahead of the competition bitcoin would be an excellent choice given the transaction privacy it offers. Coinbase.com even offers instant payment system. Tim Needham

I think Lite Forex should expand his Automatic Withdrawal system, the 100€/day is quite low...

Funds Withdrawal

Step 1

LiteForex provides a wide variety of methods of funds withdrawals from your trading account. Please familiarize with the detailed information on the funds withdrawal methods in the list below.

Funds withdrawal requests are usually processed within one business day. Bank withdrawals take three to five business days in order to reach a destination account.

Please, note: Funds may be withdrawn from an account by the very method you used to deposit your account. This means that the funds must be withdrawn to the same payment system and to the same account where they came from.

A local withdrawal represents the possibility to withdraw money through LiteForex's representative in your region. This prompt and comfortable method will suit even those clients who are not able to use electronic payment systems or international wire transfer. It enables you to use the currency of your country when withdrawing money.
